2. Our processing of your personal information ►

The types of personal information that we collect and our uses of that personal information will depend on your relationship with us. For example, we will collect different personal information depending on whether you are an insurer, a broker, an expert, a policyholder or a beneficiary covered by an insurance policy, a website user, or another third party.

Sometimes we will request or receive some of your “sensitive personal information”. Sensitive personal information is information that relates to your health, biometric data, criminal convictions, sex life, sexual orientation, racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs or trade union membership. For example, we may need access to information about your health in order to draw up statistics and provide a broker or an insurer with a quote or process any claims you make. We may also need details of any unspent criminal convictions you have for fraud prevention purposes or to carry out money laundering checks. We won’t actively collect sensitive personal information about your sex life, sexual orientation, racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs or trade union membership although it is possible that this could be disclosed indirectly in certain circumstances when answering our questions.

Where you provide personal information to us about other individuals (for example, policyholders, beneficiaries or your employees) we will also be data controller of and responsible for their personal information. You should refer them to this notice.

In order to make this notice as user friendly as possible, we have split it into different sections. Please click on the section below that best describes your relationship with us.

1	Prospective policyholders or beneficiaries ►
2	If you apply for an insurance policy with a broker or an insurer that decides to reinsure the policy or where someone else (such as your employer) applies for an insurance policy which will benefit you, this section will be relevant to you and sets out our uses of your personal information. What personal information will we collect? ►
3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Your name, address, date of birth and gender. • Financial information such as information obtained as a result of our credit checks such as bankruptcy orders, individual voluntary arrangements or county court judgments. • Information about your relationship to the policyholder where you are the beneficiary. • Information relating to your identity such as your social security number, passport number, vehicle registration number or driving licence number. • Information about your job such as your job title, employment history and employment records (including information on your salary, benefits and earnings), education history and professional accreditations. • Information which we obtain as part of checking sanctions lists. • Additional information which is relevant to the insurance application such as previous insurance policies you have held and claims you have made. This will also include any information specific to the type of policy application. For example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • If you are applying for a property protection policy, we may collect and use information which relates to your property. • If a third party (such as your employer) is applying for a professional liability policy which covers you, we may collect and use personal information which relates to previous disciplinary issues.

4. How long do we keep personal information for? ►

1	We will keep your personal information for as long as reasonably necessary to fulfil the purposes set out in section 2 above and to comply with our legal and regulatory obligations. We have a detailed retention policy in place which governs how long we will hold different types of information for. The exact time period will depend on your relationship with us, the type of personal information we hold and the type of reinsurance, for example:

- If we have a business relationship with you, we will retain your details for the lifetime of such relationship and for 7 years after.

If you would like further information regarding the periods for which your personal information will be stored, please contact us using the details set out in section 10.

5. What is our approach to sending your personal information overseas ►

1 Sometimes we (or third parties acting on our behalf) will transfer personal information that we collect about you to countries outside of the European Economic Area ("EEA").

Where a transfer occurs we will take steps to ensure that your personal information is protected. We will do this using a number of different methods including:

- putting in place appropriate contracts. We will use a set of contract wording known as the "Standard Contractual Clauses" which has been approved by the data protection authorities. You can find out more about the Standard Contractual Clauses here.
- transferring personal information only to countries which have been deemed by European data protection authorities to have adequate levels of data protection. You can find out more about this here.
- transferring personal information only to those companies in the United States which are certified under the "Privacy Shield". The Privacy Shield is a scheme under which companies certify that they provide an adequate level of data protection. You can find out more about the Privacy Shield here.

Depending on our relationship and your particular circumstances, we might transfer personal information anywhere in the world. A summary of our regular data transfers outside the EEA is set out below:

Country of transfer	Reason for the transfer	Method we use to protect your information
Australia	Reporting to our parent company	Standard Contractual Clauses
Philippines	Some of our back-office functions are provided by our Group Shared Services	Standard Contractual Clauses

	Centre in the Philippines.
USA	Our email system is provided through a hosted service with servers located in the USA.	Standard Clauses	Contractual
India	Some of our third party IT and technology suppliers provide some of their services from India.	Standard Clauses	Contractual

If you would like further information regarding our data transfers and the steps we take to safeguard your personal information, please contact us using the details set out in section 10.

6. How do we protect your information?

1	We have a package of technical and organisational measures in place to protect your personal information which have been adopted to comply with the latest data protection requirements. The measures cover various aspects of data security including the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Encryption, data masking and activity logging as appropriate • Putting in place access controls and maintaining access logs • Having minimum password requirements and requiring regular changes to passwords • Having physical access controls to our offices • Implementing procedures for security incident management and back-up and recovery and having in place disaster recovery and business continuity plans • Use of firewalls and up-to-date virus scanning software and email filtering services • Providing regular security and privacy/data protection training for all our employees • Keeping a list of the categories of persons having access to sensitive personal information, including a detailed description of their capacity with respect to the information • Ensuring that persons having access to sensitive personal information are bound by a contractual, statutory or equivalent confidentiality obligation Our security measures are kept under periodic review and are regularly updated to reflect developments in technology and security and changes to our business. However, please be aware that there are inherent security risks in transmitting data, such as e-mails or via the Internet, because it is impossible to safeguard completely against unauthorised access by third parties.

7. Profiling and Automated Decision Making

1	What is profiling? Profiling is any form of automated processing of personal information to evaluate certain personal aspects. Insurance underwriting, and sometimes claims payment, is based on profiling as it assesses the event that you are seeking to insure and the likelihood of that event occurring.
---	---

We use profiling as part of:

- Assessing reinsurance applications. We will compare the information against industry averages and our previous experience. We will use the outcome of that profiling to decide whether or not to offer reinsurance and the premium price.
- Preventing and detecting insurance fraud. We use systems to help us recognise likely indications of (re)insurance fraud. This might result in a claim being passed to our fraud team for further investigation.

We keep our profiling process under regular review and, in most cases, an individual will then make a decision based on the outcome of that profiling.

What is automated decision making?

Automated decision making refers to a situation where a decision is taken using personal information that is processed solely by automatic means (i.e. using an algorithm or other computer software) rather than a decision that is made with some form of human involvement.

Automated decision making is widely used in the (re)insurance industry to offer and administer reinsurance efficiently and accurately. Where an automated decision produces a legal or other similarly significant effect concerning you, we will only carry out automated decision making using your personal information where it is necessary for the purposes of entering into or performing a contract with you (e.g. to assess the insurance application). In all other cases, we will ask for your consent in advance.

We use a proprietary system called LifeQube to assess risk and calculate premium and to determine whether or not we will reinsure a particular risk in relation to certain life policies. This is based on medical information which you provide to your insurer and which they input into the system through a series of questionnaires (e.g. your BMI and whether you are a smoker). The answers to those questionnaires will trigger an automated decision that can be Accept, Accept but with a higher premium, Decline or Request to fill in another questionnaire (e.g. specific questions about the heart, diabetes, etc.). For example, whether you are a smoker or have heart disease may impact the rate we charge to your insurer (and therefore the premium which you pay) as well as whether or not we decide to reinsure the policy. Your insurer may still decide to underwrite the policy with you or to obtain reinsurance from another provider. You should check with your insurer if any automated decision making has been part of the decision on whether or not to underwrite the policy or in setting the premium.

Please see section 8 for the rights that arise when we carry out automated decision making including profiling. If you object to a decision based solely on automated processing, you should contact your insurer and have the right to obtain human intervention on the part of the insurer, to express your point of view and to contest the decision.

8. Your rights ►

1	Under data protection law you have a number of rights in relation to the personal information that we hold about you which we set out below. These rights might not apply in every circumstance. You can exercise your rights by contacting us at any time using the details set out in section 10. We will not usually charge you in relation to a request. Please note that although we take your rights seriously, there may be some circumstances where we cannot comply with your request such as where complying with it would mean that we couldn't comply with our own legal or regulatory obligations. In these instances we will let you know why we cannot comply with your request. In some circumstances, complying with your request may result in the termination of the relationship. We will inform you of this at the time you make a request.
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to access your personal information ►
2	You are entitled to a copy of the personal information we hold about you and certain details about how we use it. We will usually provide your personal information to you in writing unless you request otherwise. Such request will usually be without charge. Where your request has been made electronically (e.g. by email), a copy of your personal information will be provided to you by electronic means where possible.
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to rectification ►
2	We always take care to ensure that the information we hold about you is accurate and where necessary up to date. If you believe that there are any inaccuracies, discrepancies or gaps in the information we hold about you, you can contact us and ask us to update or amend it.
2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to restriction of processing ►
1	In certain circumstances, you are entitled to ask us to stop using your personal information, for example where you think that the personal information we hold about you may be inaccurate or where you think that we no longer need to use your personal information.
2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to withdraw your consent ►
1	Where we rely on your consent in order to process your personal information, you have the right to withdraw such consent to further use of your personal information. Please note that for some purposes, we need your consent. If you withdraw your consent, we may no longer be able to perform our obligations. We will advise you of this at the point you seek to withdraw your consent.

1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to erasure ►
2	This is sometimes known as the 'right to be forgotten'. It entitles you, in certain circumstances, to request deletion of your personal information. For example, where we no longer need your personal information for the original purpose we collected it for or where you have exercised your right to withdraw consent. Whilst we will assess every request, there are other factors that will need to be taken into consideration. For example we may be unable to erase your information as you have requested because we have a legal or regulatory obligation to keep it.
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to object ►
2	In certain cases, you have the right to object to our processing. This arises in relation to: Marketing: You have control over the extent to which we market to you and you have the right to request that we stop sending you marketing messages at any time. You can do this either by clicking on the "unsubscribe" button in any email that we send to you or by contacting us using the details set out in section 1010. Please note that even if you exercise this right because you do not want to receive marketing messages, we may still send you service related communications where necessary. Processing based on our legitimate interest: Where we process your personal information on the basis of a legitimate interest, you can object to such processing, unless our purpose outweighs any prejudice to your privacy rights.
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to data portability ►
2	In certain circumstances, you can request that we transfer personal information that you have provided to us directly to a third party.
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rights relating to automated decision-making including profiling ►
2	Where an automated decision or profiling produces a legal or other similarly significant effect concerning you (for example, where your policy or claim is rejected), you have the right to ask us to reconsider a decision taken by automated means or profiling or to take a new decision on a different basis (e.g. by introducing some form of human involvement).
1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The right to make a complaint ►
2	You have a right to complain to the local regulator – where you are resident. You also have the right to complain to either the Belgian Data Protection Authority (previously known as the Privacy Commission) or the UK Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) if you believe that we have breached data protection laws when using your personal information.

You can visit the Belgian Data Protection Authority's website at <http://www.dataprotectionauthority.be> and/or ICO's website at <https://ico.org.uk/> for more information. Please note that lodging a complaint will not affect any other legal rights or remedies that you have.
